PRODUCTS OR MACHINERY

Production focuses on two basic types of copies of historical glass based upon originals in museum collections, and colored glass from free hand made according to the own author's designs. Both small-scaled series and large business deliveries are offered, particularly for sales abroad. Individual commissions for production of smaller collections, such as those intended as state gifts, corporate gift collections, and souvenirs for International symposiums, are also available. The line of historical glass includes exact copies and free replicas from the age of antiquity to the Secession period. Greenish, so called forest glass typical of the work from Antiquity and the Middle ages is being produced, as well as crystal glass with Renaissance enamel painting and Baroque engravings.
