PRODUCTS OR MACHINERY

Suppliers for screenprinting mesh and complementary products for the stretching process.

COMPANY BACKGROUND / HISTORY

The Sefar Printing Division manufactures a wide range of high-quality, precision mesh for screen printing. Pneumatic stretching systems and precision tension measuring instruments are complementary products for the stretching process. Sefar also offer extensive applications engineering expertise, ensuring that its products deliver optimum performance in the field. In the future, Sefar will maintain the world leadership in its core competence, the marketing, application engineering and manufacturing of synthetic woven media, while changing from a very successful monofilament mesh seller to a globally acknowledged problem solver and benefit provider for screen printing applications.
