PRODUCTS OR MACHINERY

Photovoltaic technology enables the generation of electrical energy directly from the sun and offers, if used as an integrated element in building complexes, above all, increased possibilities of application. ETA Renewable Energies is able to put the established experience of its staff at the disposal of its own clients in the identification and definition of the technically and economically most appropriate solutions to their requirements. It offers, furthermore, assistance in obtaining the necessary and privileged financial conditions at the agreed lending institutions.
