PRODUCTS OR MACHINERY

HUBER+SUHNER's low frequency Division can look back on decades of experience in the fields of compounding, materials development and cable manufacture. Thanks to our vast know-how in cable and cable systems engineering, development and production, we can offer cost-effective, specific solutions for the solar energy market. We support the market, particularly the solar panel industry with RADOX products like cables, system cables, solar systems, solar connectors, solar cables and junction boxes.
