His pioneering spirit sparked the success of the company, which today operates worldwide with over 850 employees. The development of the MC Multilam, the core of the wide range of MC products, set new standards in the field of electrical contacts. A number of patents reflect our large technical know-how, and the ability to use this knowledge for the benefit of our clients. Multi-Contact offers a wide range of high quality electrical connectors for various industries, as well as customized solutions for particular requirements.
