The designs of each individual customer are kept confidential. The company uses 'Einedrucker Technology' in which both the inner and outer walls are blown together to make a single piece Glass Refill. Since the unit is a single piece without any welding, it has better mechanical strength. Further spacers are NOT used between two walls. Although most of our production is with 'side nozzle (Capillary)', we are fully capable and equipped for production of glass refills with 'center nozzle'.
